

5 tips to an effective E-leadership in post COVID era

Act with urgency

The leader should avoid hesitation and quickly generate solutions and take action.

Clear communication

Teams need transparent and clear communication. Leaders have to be as clear as possible to make the teams aware of what might happen.

Adapt & Update

Effective leaders should constantly adapt to the situation and update their strategies.

Show empathy

As a leader, you should not turn your team members down when they come for support. Effective leaders are those who value their teams.

Solution-oriented & Team involvement

Good leaders are solution-oriented. They will take responsibility for the missteps, learn from them, solve the problem and try to foresee the upcoming issues to be ready for them.

Teams should be involved in decisions when it's something that concerns them. The team's opinion matters as well.
